

Fill the spaces at the table with Zack's new friends.

Jesus and Zack had dinner together that evening. Jesus told Zack all about God's love and forgiveness. Zack was so impressed that he promised to give half of all he owned to the poor, and return anything he had stolen four times over.

Luke 19:1-10

Once there was a very short man who was a tax collector, name Zack (Zacchaeus). Since no one liked tax collectors, no one liked Zack.

It's your job to make a poem about this story. We'll give you some words you can use if you like . . .

Zack lack tax small tall all short court

How many animals can you find hidden in the tree?

One day Zack noticed that everyone was excited about something, but no one would talk to him and tell him why. Since he was too short to see over the crowd, he clambered up a tree to get a better look.

*tree see chances branches climb crime time look took

Give the people angry faces.

The excitement was about Jesus, who had just come into the village. As soon as Jesus saw Zack he said, "Hey Zack, come down here! I want to go to your house today!" The others were angered that Jesus would want to spend time with such an evil man; but Jesus didn't care.

down frown town here fear way today say said care there fair stare man planned stand
